Marshall Space Center Outlines Growth Of Project

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — As 1962 ended the Marshall Space Flight Center here shows these signs of growth:

•About 800 workers more than were on the rolls at last year's end, with a payroll increase of nearly $7 million.

•Construction underway at Marshall is valued at more than $30 million.

•Construction planned at Marshall for the current fiscal year totals about $40 million.

•NASA Headquarters has recently authorized the Center to hire 200 new employees.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of the Center, cited these statistics today as an indication of the Center's growing role in the community and in the national space exploration program. Marshall, the largest of NASA's installations, is the home of Saturn moon rocket program.

Following is a resume of the "economic aspects" of the Center's operation.

Personnel and Payroll

Marshall currently employs about 6,800 civil service workers, compared to 5,950 a year ago. This gain of 850 has been made notwithstanding the loss on July 1 of some 400 persons who were assigned to the new NASA Launch Operations center, Cape Canaveral employees who worked at Canaveral but who were carried on MSC's rolls and included in last year's count.

The Center's civil service payroll in 1962 totaled $55 million. The current bi-weekly rate, projected over the next 12 months, in reality, however, it will be greater, inasmuch as the expected personnel increase in 1963 is not considered in this calculation.

In addition, about 2,200 contractor employees are working for the Center here. Their estimated payroll is $16 million, bringing the Center's estimated direct and indirect payroll for 1963 (civil service and contractor) to $71 million.

More than $30 million dollars worth of construction is now underway at the Center, most of which is related to the new Saturn C-5 Apollo moon rocket program. Major projects include test stands and associated structures for the C-5 booster, additions to Quality Assurance, Manufacturing Engineering and Astrionics Divisions, and a new Central laboratory and office facility.

The NASA construction budget for fiscal year 1963 includes $171 million for projects run by the Marshall Center. About $40 million of that is to be spent for construction at Huntsville. The principal MSC-Huntsville projects are:

- Addition to Computation Division building, $1,250,000.
- Components and Subassembly Acceptance building, $500,000.
- Engineering and Administration building, $2,400,000.
- Expansion of instrumentation systems in Test Division West Area, $3,500,000.
- 24 Engine Test Stand, $4,500,000.
- Hydraulic Test Facility, $240,000.
- Low Temperature Facility, $975,000.
- Modification of Saturn C-1 test stand, $2,775,000.
- Engineering building, $1,000,000.
- Instrument Laboratory, $1,900,000.
- Support Facility in Test Division West Area, $7,500,000.
- Utility installation, $2,517,000.
- Saturn C-5 booster test stand equipment, $3,333,000.
- Other Marshall construction projects include $75,000,000 for the Michoud Operations in New Orleans, $75,000,000 for the Mississippi Test Facility, and $40,000,000 at various locations, primarily facilities for engine development and testing at contractor locations.

GOV. BARNETT APPOINTS SIX MAN DRUG-STUDY GROUP

JACKSON, Miss. — Gov. Ross Barnett announced appointment Wednesday of a six-member committee to study habit forming drug usage and manufacture in Mississippi.

The committee, headed by Dr. A. L. Gray, executive officer of the Mississippi Board of Health, is composed of two other doctors, two dentists and an attorney. Barnett said "increasing development of new drugs and combinations of drugs and distribution to the consumers through both legitimate and illegitimate channels" made probable health hazards for Mississippians by "improper use of dangerous and habit forming drugs."

In a press conference, the governor said Mississippi's drug control was not as rigid as other states and indicated the recent Thailand drug struggle cause concern among state officials. Barnett said the committee would determine the size and nature of the problems and make recommendations for possible corrective legislation.

Also named to the Board were J. E. McDuffie of Aberdeen, Dr. Robert E. Shands of New Albany, Dr. John Lindley of Meridian, Eddie Lee Brantley of Pascagoula and Dist. Atty. Roy Noble Lee of Forest, the state-at-large legal advisor.

In other matters, Barnett said he would speak to the state on economic progress over television this week, discussing the "beginning, action and results" of 1962-63 Jackson stations, Channel 3, WJLT, and Channel 12, WJTV, will carry the program at 9:30 p. m. Thursday and 2 p. m. Saturday respectively.

The governor appointed Spencer Powers of Cary and Charles Cabness of Corinth to four-year terms on the Forestry Commission beginning Jan. 17. They replace Henry T. Crosby of Greenville and W. D. Myers of Deemer, whose terms expired.

Barnett also said the state's next legislative term might depend on results of an expected study report of natural resources by March 1. Stanford Research Agency has been conducting the $40,000 study.

This index number, 124, is eight points above that of October, 1961, the publication added.

PLANNING UNDERWAY FOR NEW SATELLITE PROGRAM

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Planning is underway at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center for a new Satellite program which the Center is to conduct for NASA's Office of Advanced Research and Technology.

It was announced yesterday that two Saturn C-1's (numbers 8 and 9) would have secondary missions of launching in orbit earth orbit large satellites carrying meteoroid experiments. Primary purpose of the first 10 Saturn launches is to test the vehicle.

The Saturn meteoroid satellite project has been assigned to the Center's Research Projects Division. Dr. Ernest Stuhlinger is Division director and Dr. William Johnson is the project manager.

The Saturn C-1 vehicle manager is Robert Lindstrom of the Saturn Systems Office.

The Marshall Procurement and Contracts office said today a total of 28 firms had been invited to submit proposals for a prime contract to design and construct the satellite. Proposals are due January 17. "The interest in this program is brisk," Procurement Specialist William Goodrich said. "We expect a rather large number of responses."

Meteoroids and micrometeoroids (tiny particles of solid matter traveling at high speeds in space) pose a problem to space flight. Several experiments aimed at detecting the size and density of these particles have been carried on Explorer and Vanguard satellites. The most recent such payload was Explorer 16 (S-55B) launched Dec. 16 by the NASA Langley Research Center.

The new Saturn satellite, however, will be of far greater size, offering a much larger exposure surface to the small space particles.

The large size will permit investigation with skin thickness greater than that used in small satellites. It has the further advantage of providing more data on meteoroids, the study of distribution and magnitude of meteoroid particles.

The satellite will weigh about 4,000 pounds and will have a surface area of some 2,000 square feet. Usable lifetime will be one year at minimum. It is to provide data to be used in the design of large operational manned and unmanned systems in space within a few hundred miles of the earth.

This satellite is to be "erected" in orbit, that is, once the payload carrier is placed in orbit, it will be transformed into an object with large sensing surface area. The payload may take one or two shapes. From its basic cylinder form, it may "unfold" into the form of a parasol, or it may put forth two long wings.

MISSISSIPPI HOLIDAY DEATH RATE ONE OF HIGHEST

"The staggering total of 19 killed in traffic accidents over the Christmas holiday weekend graphically describes the pitiful situation in Mississippi," stated Louis Wise, President of the Mississippi Safety Council.

The Safety Council President said further that if the heavily populated states of the North East and Middle West had experienced the number of deaths on a per capita basis as did Mississippi, more than 1,000 people would have been killed in America during this time instead of the 846 killed.

"I cannot understand," Wise said, "why our state - one of the most rural in the nation and with some of the best highways - shows one of the highest death rates year after year."

Wise said the reasons for such consistent statistics on our highways were numerous and listed some of them as improper enforcement, particularly by law enforcement officers, a complete disregard for traffic laws by many of our people, and complete apathy to the traffic situation by the populace of the state.

"The time is now," Wise said, "when we must realize the seriousness of the traffic problem and take immediate corrective action." He said that a statewide drive, including fair and impartial traffic enforcement would cause an immediate reduction in traffic accidents and a continuation of such a drive would have a lasting effect.

The Council President said that the 1964 Legislature would be urged to enact laws containing additional requirements for obtaining a driver's license and to require some system of periodic re-examination.

Traffic across U. S. Highway 90 toll bridges at Bay St. Louis and Pascagoula slumped during November, according to a monthly report of the Mississippi Highway Department.

Bay bridge traffic totaled 189, 543 vehicles as compared to 204, 909 in October, while Pascagoula bridge traffic amounted to 270, 918 as compared to 281,826 in October.

Toll fare collections fell correspondingly — amounting to $51, 563.15 at Bay St. Louis and to $60, 683.25 at Pascagoula. The October collections amounted to $53, 296.80 at Bay St. Louis and $63, 223.40 at Pascagoula.

The Bay St. Louis bridge, since opening on Aug. 2, 1953, has now been used by 21,281,749 vehicles with fare collections amounting to $6,229,531.31 being deposited to the Hancock Bank, Gulfport, fund trustee.

The Pascagoula bridge, opened on Oct. 15, 1954, has been used by 21,781,718 vehicles and toll collections totaling $5,812,407.68 have been deposited with the Pascagoula-Moss Point Bank, fund trustee.

BROTHER OF WAVELAND RESIDENT DIED

Oliver D'Aquin, 74, brother of Edgar D'Aquin of Waveland, died at 5 p. m. Thursday, December 27. Funeral services were held from the Lott-Egan Funeral Home, New Orleans, with religious rites at St. Alphonsus Church, laterment was in St. Louis Cemetery No. 2.

The business population of Hancock County is up 9 percent over January, 1962, announces Eugene F. Schenk, district manager of the New Orleans office. He states that figures obtained by a physical count of the Dun and Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1963 totaled 191 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in the county as compared with January, 1962, total of 176.

Mr. Schenk noted that this month Dun and Bradstreet, Inc. is sending requests for financial statements to the 2.9 million businesses listed in the Reference Book. These statements are essential to the credit reports issued by the business information agency. The requests are sent to all businesses regardless of size, from the corner grocery to the million dollar manufacturer.

Because of the constant flux in the American Business community there are more than 5,000 changes now occurring daily in Reference Book data. Thus the mammoth volume must be re-issued every two months to keep up-to-date credit facts in the hands of manufacturers and wholesalers. The credit report which stands behind each entry in the Reference Book contains such information as the firm's history, ownership, operation, financial stability, and current payment record.

VETERANS OF WWI SEEK INCREASE IN PENSION PROGRAM

An effort to increase and expand the pension program for veterans of the First World War is the major objective of the Veterans of World War I, Inc., when the new Congress convenes January 7.

Edward J. Neron, of San Diego, California, National Commander of the Veterans of World War I, urges all eligible veterans to contact the National Headquarters of the VVWV, at 40 G Street, N. E., Washington 2, D. C. in order to be informed on just what plans are being made for the proposals which will be presented to the new Congress. Neron asks that all men who served in 1917 and 1918 forward their names, addresses and serial numbers to the headquarters and in return they will be supplied with complete and specific information concerning the legislative program of the Veterans of World War I.

The latter organization is a comparatively new veterans group but on December 31 had enrolled over 225,000 members. It was given a Congressional charter by the Congress in 1958 and now ranks as the third largest veteran organization in the country.

funnies

Now there's a little man who knows what he wants! He wants the pretty funny papers. You might say, "He has a mind of his own..." That's correct, of course. Every child is endowed by his creator with a will and a mind; not developed, but it's there. Yet, how that child is trained from his earliest years, will mold his character, develop his mind and strengthen his will.

Children should have good example, then. And the best example that parents can give is to go to church. The Church is for you and your family. It is the hope of your children. It is the means of bringing God's bountiful blessings to all.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

For Events in March of Dimes

What's a girl just a girl? No! A girl is a girl! Do you give up? Want a translation?

All three are names of dances that will be held by teenagers across the country this January in honor of the 10th Anniversary March of Dimes.

The authority for this information is a blonde, hard-eyed beauty who is national chairman for the Teen Age Program (TAP) of the National Foundation of the March of Dimes.

She's Suzie Willett, 18, Wilmington, Del., a freshman at Russell Sage College, Troy, N.Y., where she is studying nursing. She became a March of Dimes volunteer several years ago because she "wanted to help people."

An enthusiastic worker, she traveled the state of Delaware and showed high school students how they could help carry on the March of Dimes programs to fight birth defects, arthritis and polio—a trio of crippling diseases to young people as well as to older age groups.

In the Top Top This fall and winter, as the top TAP, she's been corresponding and talking with teens all over the country, advising them how they can make themselves useful in March of Dimes activities in their home towns.

"Just about all the teens I've met in my travels for the March of Dimes really want to do something constructive," Suzie says. "Most of them join TAP groups because this gives them an opportunity to contribute to the life of their community."

There have been several national surveys which show that Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the killed-virus polio vaccine solely with March of Dimes support, is a hero to teens. It's easy to see why. Dr. Salk is a dedicated man, absorbed in his humanitarian work. Teens are very idealistic and they gladly give their respect to anyone who earns it.

"I'm going to be a nurse because I want a career that involves doing something necessary and useful. I've worked as a hospital volunteer and I know that I'll be happy helping patients who can't help themselves."

Suzie, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert V. Willett, Jr., spent last summer as a Candy Stripe volunteer in Delaware Hospital in Wilmington. Her father, a chemist, is an executive with the Du Pont Company.

"I'm aware that occasionally a tiny minority of teens get into trouble and make headlines," Suzie says, "but I'll bet that if they found work which they enjoyed, even this small fraction would stay out of trouble. I think that most of all, a teenager wants to feel respected and needed. I guess in that sense, we're no different from anyone else."

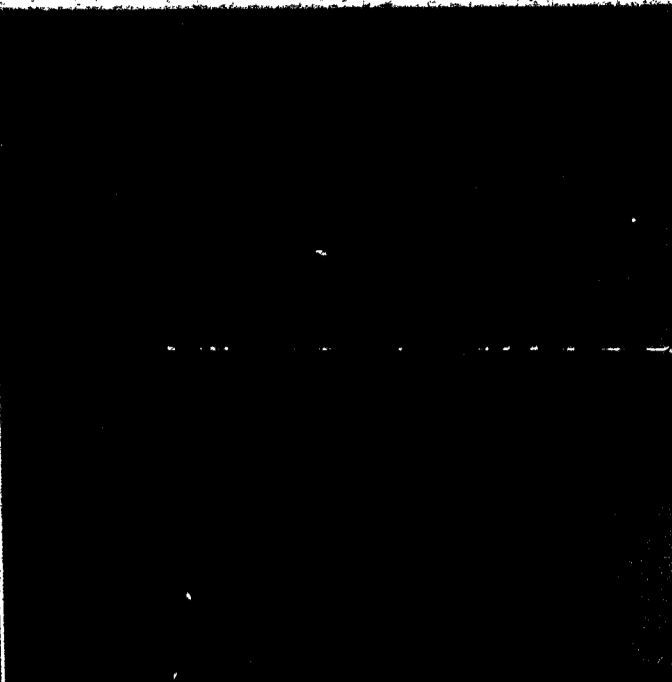

Popular Events Planned From telephone and letter surveys among TAPs all over the country, Suzie reports that the following TAP activities are shaping up as the most popular benefits for the 1963 March of Dimes:

• Dances head the list, ranging from informal sock hops to Silver Anniversary Balls, glittering events which call for formal gowns and gardenias.

• Street sales—there seems to be an endless supply of items which TAPs plan to sell. These include tiny plastic Rainbow Crutches, balloons, lollipops, peanuts, donuts and carnations, among dozens of other products.

• Auctions—club members auction off their services to the highest bidder for a day or an afternoon, working as secretaries, baby sitters, shoe shiners and the like.

"I'm thrilled that TAPs are so willing to pitch in and work for the March of Dimes," Suzie says. "This just proves one thing I've felt for some time: most of today's teens are idealistic, and they are searching for ways to express their idealism."

Suzie Willett, 18, Wilmington, Del., is national chairman of the Teen Age Program (TAP) for the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes held, as always, during the month of January.
